OBLIGATIONS OF AN ACCREDITED EMPLOYER

01 Pay at least the median wage or the rate stated in the job check, whichever is higher.

02 Provide the hours, leave and conditions recorded in the employment agreement.

03 Keep records of wages, hours and settlement for two years after employment ends.

04 Notify INZ of a material change within five working days.

05 Meet recruitment and training obligations for the accreditation type held.

06 Permit verification visits and produce records on request.

Accreditation is not a job offer and does not grant a visa. Each worker requires an approved job check, a visa application and a decision in their own right. Accreditation may be suspended or revoked where an obligation is not met, and the status on the register is marked accordingly.
